1. Shifts that require filling immediately:

-The caller goes to ShareVision, Casual Relief Availability and Schedule, most recent Casual Relief 1 document. It will then ask for your log in information and then to read only or edit. You need to edit and fill out information as required. There is a legend on the top explaining what the different colored squares mean.

- One call is made to the most senior employee qualified to work at the worksite. If there is no answer, the caller proceeds to the next available qualified employee (refer to the Casual Relief Availability and Schedule, Staff Area Orientations to determine who is qualified to work in that area). If a busy signal is encountered, the caller shall wait three (3) minutes and call again. If there is no response, then the caller will proceed to the next available qualified employee, in order of seniority. The caller will fill out changes made and save.

- The caller must close the Casual Relief document when finished working on it, otherwise no one else can log in. It will state that the document is locked for editing and changes can no longer be made and/or saved.

2. Shifts that require filling in excess of two (2) working days:

An email is sent to the most senior qualified employee to confirm the date, time and location of the booked shift to work at the worksite stating that staff has been booked for a shift with a request to confirm. The employee has until noon of the next business day to respond. Once confirmation is received, the email is filed in the correct staff folder. If the employee does not have an email address, a phone call is made to request confirmation of the booked shift by noon of the next business day. If no reply is received the next senior qualified employee is emailed and booked. Responses are recorded on availability schedule in ShareVision.

3. A block of consecutive shifts (greater than five (5) shifts but not to exceed twenty (20) shifts) will be offered to the most senior qualified employee available to work the entire block of consecutive shifts.

4. Supervisors will document all casual call-in/email communication on the Availability Schedule including Supervisors' comments if needed.

5. In emergencies, employees may be called on days other than those they have indicated they are available for.
6. Employees shall notify their supervisor immediately of the time of unavailability due to illness and vacation.
7. If an employee is called/emailed for a casual shift and a message is left and the employee does not respond to the Employer with an acknowledgement of the phone call/email within twenty-four (24) hours, the Employer is not obligated to call the employee again in that pay period for casual shifts.
8. A casual employee may become a regular full-time or part-time employee only by successfully securing a regular full or part-time posted vacancy.
9. Casual employees who have their shifts cancelled can assume shifts of a less senior casual employee in areas where they are qualified to work.
10. Part-time employees will not have their regular shifts rescheduled as a result of the Casual Call-in procedure. That is, part-time employees will maintain their current regularly scheduled hours. Casual shifts will be in addition to regularly scheduled shifts.
